Mother Nature was not fooling

Thunderstorms, hail, high wind and tornadoes have tormented central Texas in general and Williamson County in particular all week long, making residents here appreciate the sun twice as much when it beamed brightly Friday morning.

Sunday and Wednesday nights brought the most violent storms and damage in varying degrees all over the county.

Hail ranged from golf ball size to "about the size of the end of your little finger."

Tornadoes touched down in Schwertner Sunday night and in Leander Wednesday night. Damage was done to roofs and trees by the extremely high winds, at first reported to be tornadoes.

Rain gauges were broken by hail or missed by the horizontally blowing rain, but as near as could be reported the torrential downpours measured less than three inches over the county for the whole unsettled week.

Cotton crops were completely wiped out in the Schwertner, Bartlett and part of the Jarrell area, and will be replanted just as soon as farmers can get back into the muddy fields.

Maize crops were hard hit, but some are predicting the maize will recover with a smaller stand, and not be a total loss.

Many gardens were flattened, but surprisingly are bouncing back up.

Damage reports from Leander included two demolished mobile homes and damaged small buildings.

The roof was blown off a building at the Texas Highway Department just south of Georgetown. Windows were broken all over town, particularly at Texas Crushed Stone and in San Gabriel Heights.

Limbs and leaves covered Georgetown and presented a gigantic clean-up task Thursday.

The north loop electrical circuit of Georgetown was out from 6:10 to 7:50 p.m. Wednesday. Electrical disturbances set off fire and burglar alarms at several businesses.

Hail broke the new parking lot signs in both the Southwestern Plaza and Lake Air Shopping Centers.

Preparations were in progress at Davis Funeral Home and when the electricity went off, the Georgetown Volunteer Fire Department came to the rescue with an auxiliary power unit and kept the lights on until electricity was restored.

The San Gabriel River was up considerably from its normal size, but no flooding was reported.

THEY JUST LEFT — The family of Joe Alba were still in this trailer home when they felt it shudder. The mother moved her three children to the station wagon just before the roof and front wall were blown away. Leander folks assisted the family by storing their belongings and providing them shelter. The home was located just south of the Leander High School. The vegetable garden and lawn equipment behind the house were untouched — and the phone on the standing back wall was still working.

Lone Star Gas Co. to fight regulation

Lone Star Gas Company officials will object to final passage of Georgetown's comprehensive utility regulation article at Monday night's city council meeting.

The proposed ordinance requires local utilities to file a "complete balance sheet and operating statement" to the city council when requesting a rate increase.

The ordinance was passed on first reading in April.

Bill Smith of Lone Star's Georgetown office told the SUN his firm believes the measure is in conflict with state law.

He declined, however, to talk about what sections of the ordinance are in question.

"We haven't met with the council yet, and I don't want them to be surprised by reading about it in the paper," he said, explaining he would rather pop it on them at Monday's council meeting.

THE PROPOSED ORDINANCE was the result of a 10-month battle with General Telephone Company over a rate increase requested for Georgetown and Jarrell telephone customers.

If passed, the ordinance would give the city a better break in computing the utility's "fair value" of equipment than was proposed by General Telephone in its increase request.

As recommended by rate consultant Jack Hopper, fair value is decided by adding 60 per cent of the new original cost of the utility's physical investment to 40 per cent of the net replacement cost, a method approved by the Texas Municipal League and the Texas Railroad Commission. The phone company argued a 50/50 percent calculation should be used.

UNDER OTHER PROVISIONS of the proposed ordinance, the utility is required to promptly provide records and documents requested by the

An elevating experience

Georgetown's power conversion from low-voltage electricity to high-voltage caused a blackout in the county courthouse Wednesday and left a short woman with a grey streak of hair stranded helpless in the courthouse elevator.

Stuck between the first and second floors, the lady shouted for help while standing in the darkened cubicle for about five minutes.

County Auditor Ben Kurio and Deputy Sheriff Dale Swofford ran to the second floor, opened the elevator doors and lowered a ladder to the lady, who was too embarrassed to tell the SUN her name.

"I had a lot of peace of mind in there with no one talking to me in the darkness," she said.

As everyone went back to routine, Kurio commented to Swofford, "I hope that lady had grey hair before the elevator stuck."

Week's news in a nutshell

GEORGETOWN SCHOOL TRUSTEES hired James A. Hundley, 34, of Levelland for the position of high school principal. Currently an assistant principal and athletic director at Levelland High School, Hundley was chosen from among 29 educators who applied for the job. He will begin work June 15.

DR. E. H. STEELMAN of Southwestern University was granted permission Monday to dig for artifacts among Indian mounds in the North Fork dam project area. Steelman will utilize SU students this summer to uncover, sort and catalogue the finds, which will then be presented to the City of Georgetown.

Jarrell schools face TEA judges

GISD consolidation may be one answer — Or: Higher taxes vs. non-accreditation

by Jim Lewis

The Jarrell Independent School District may have lived on borrowed time and too low taxes for too long to maintain its accreditation by the Texas Education Agency.

In February, 1973, and again in April, 1974, accreditation teams visited the 59-year-old Jarrell schoolhouse to judge the quality of education afforded by the school district with one of the lowest tax rates in the county.

Both times, the inspections resulted in stiff warnings by the Texas Education Agency that "serious violations" of accreditation standards exist for grades kindergarten through twelve.

During the second visit, the inspection team reported considerable improvement in eleven areas where shortcomings had been identified in 1973. But ten broad areas of fault remained, they said, and should be corrected by the next accreditation inspection, which occurs May 15.

While Supt. A. L. Lytle reports that most of TEA's demands for curriculum and teacher quality have been met (or at least approached), his primary concern is the lack of concrete plans for a new high school plant.

"The TEA people feel that the school district has never borne a proportionate amount of the financial load in educating our students," Lytle told trustees at a board meeting last week. "They're saying that the community is making no substantial effort to support the school."

That substantial effort was placed before JISD voters in March in the form of a $650,000 bond election, which was rejected by a resounding 4-to-1 margin. The bonds would have financed purchase of a new high school.

(Jack Mayberry, program director of TEA's accreditation division, told the SUN, "Passing a bond election is the best way I know of for a community to express its support for its schools.")

Mayberry said his office has no record of being informed that Jarrell voters had rejected a bond issue. He asked the SUN to deliver to him a copy of a newspaper story reporting the election's defeat.)

Bud Stockton, who led a last-minute campaign to defeat the bond election because it would result in a 50 percent increase in JISD taxes, has since been elected to the board of trustees. Last week, he proposed that the district purchase two

About a year and a half ago I bought my first cow and calf. Paid $480 for the pair, which made me a cattleman. This week I sold the cow, with a second calf, for $89.17, which made me an experienced cattleman. There's a world of difference.

EVEN WITH THE PRICE of cattle steadily declining, for a period I thought I would come out all right, finally, in my cow venture. Then, about six months ago, the cow developed a lump on her jaw. My advisor told me it would probably, of its own account, rupture and drain. If it didn't, he said, I should get a vet to lance it. It didn't open up so I got a local vet to take a look, which is all he did. The thing had solidified and couldn't be drained, which meant the cow couldn't eat well and would eventually starve to death. Soon after his diagnosis she calved, as we experienced cattlemen say, and a few days later both went to the auction barn, bringing $89.17. Old "lumpy" had continued to eat very well and wasn't in too bad shape when she went on the auction block, destined to become ingredients for cat and dog chow.

It still may work out. I have her first calf and it had an offspring. Both look great and, who knows, one day I may look back to this point as the beginning of something great.

IT WAS SCAREY HERE Wednesday evening. Darkness was descending ahead of time; the sky was green and boiling; there wasn't, for a time, a breath of air stirring; the radio was warning that a tornado had dipped at Leander and was heading eastward, toward Georgetown, Round Rock, Hutto and Taylor. Then the fire sirens began going off and, even worse, no one knew immediately if they meant tornado or fire! Everybody was tuned to KGTV, which issued frequent reports on the situation with a wild assortment of weird music as the accompanying background. Sam Brady told me he began feeling like a caged animal and finally hollered for Patsy to turn off the radio. I tried to call the station to ask for soothing music but my phone had gone out of order, and I couldn't get through. I understand that someone did, however, and the station began playing milder music.

KGTV performs a vital role in such conditions. I remember it staying on the air until 3 a.m. one wild, stormy night about 2 years ago, and everybody was listening to it. But, in all seriousness, those fellows ought to keep a few "stormy night records" on hand for just such occasions. We mortals need to be soothed when Mother Nature is upset.

Apparently there wasn't much hail damage around town Monday night. The insurance people say they have received a few inquiries, but I haven't heard anyone tell of serious roof damage here in town.

Paul Harvey

In the delineation of American foreign policy no phrase is used more casually than the phrase "good neighbor."

THE PHRASE IS POLITICALLY SAFE because it translates the same into every language. Nobody wants to be anything less than a good neighbor.

But what does it mean?

If you and I, living next door to one another, are going to be good neighbors, I am not going to come over and inject myself into your family squabbles.

You are going to keep your dog out of my garden, but if you don't I'm not going to get even by kicking your dog.

If your house catches fire and you holler for help I'll come running with all the hoses and buckets my family can carry. And I'm sure you'll do the same for us.

I WILL KEEP MY HOUSE PAINTED and my grass cut as will you, and we will live side by side as good neighbors.

From time to time I may offer to share some of the surplus from my garden and you, handy with tools, may make something in your basement workshop which I can use.

When you have an illness in your family you are welcome to any medicine in my supply. But if I am a truly good neighbor I will not challenge your political opinions. And, certainly, I will not try to take to myself your wife — or your children.

Gen. George Brown, chairman of our Joint Chiefs of Staff, says American military intervention in Vietnam was under serious consideration in Washington as recently as early April. But he concedes that the American people would never have allowed it.

MEMBERS OF CONGRESS, back on The Hill following the Easter recess, say they got the same message back home.

President Ford, until his trip to Palm Springs, was urging additional military aid to South Vietnam. Let me add this about that.

There is a law which says President Ford cannot send U. S. troops, planes or warships to the defense of Vietnam or Cambodia.

This limitation on presidential powers was passed by Congress in June of 1973. It banned any and all further U. S. military involvement as of Aug. 15, 1973, "in all Southeast Asia."

THE AUTHOR AND PROMOTER of that law — the one man who did most to get Congress thus to restrain presidential authority, even over the objection of the President who shared his party label — was the then Republican leader of the House half of Congress, Rep. Gerald Ford.

He recognized then a lesson that is very difficult for a pressured President to apply: The very essence of being a good neighbor is first and foremost minding your own business.

100 Years ago

As our bicentennial approaches, do you long for the good old days and lament that the country is going to the dogs?

YOU AREN'T ALONE, BUDDY, if you do. Millions of Americans feel the same way and look into the future with fear and trepidation. They know it's bad, and they expect it to get worse. "We'll make it through 1976 but not another century," they predict.

It's possible they are right. We now have a weapon that we have generously shared with our implacable enemy capable of wiping us out overnight. It could bring things to a booming halt, but we are confident it won't. If we were attacked by that enemy, presumably we would fire back and wipe him out too. And nobody wants to get wiped out.

Now, about the country going to the dogs and wishing for the good old days. . . stay a while and hear what the nation was going through just 100 years ago, right in the middle of the halcyon days we remember or read about.

"One hundred years ago this country was making ready for its 100th birthday anniversary.

According to the Smithsonian magazine the crime rate in the 1870's was perhaps twice that of the crime rate today. Interesting? There was rioting among the Irish in New York, the blacks in Savannah, the Chinese in San Francisco, the political clubs in Pittsburgh, and the coal miners in Scranton.

And would you believe that Boss Tweed, New Yorkers were discovering, had mulcted them of millions? Legislators were being bought and sold and graft reached into the White House itself. This would indicate things were not so different then than now.

We think things are bad now. But 100 years ago about a sixth of the population was foreign born and largely unassimilated. Thousands of children only 8 years of age were recruited to the 10-hour workday of factories, mines and sweatshops. We've come a long way, baby!

In the 1870's pneumonia and tuberculosis ravaged the population in winter, malaria and typhoid in summer, diphtheria, scarlet fever and sometimes cholera and smallpox broke out in all seasons. Yes, that was just 100 years ago.

City streets were hopelessly clogged by traffic in daytime, and toughs roamed streets at night. Prostitution and venereal disease were big problems.

The Ku Klux Klan tortured and murdered Blacks. The U.S. Navy shelled the coast of Korea, with whom we were at peace. Millions of Americans were trekking westward, many destined to fall victims to Indians, desperadoes, and fraudulent schemes of their fellow men.

Women won admission to the University of Michigan, invaded railroad smoking compartments and in Virginia City, Nevada, organized opium-smoking clubs. Girls' hairdos cascaded over their eyes.

Would you believe that young men went clean shaven to show their contempt for the hirsute adornment of their fathers? The elders wore hilarious muttonchop whiskers, straggly handlebar moustaches, goatees and shoulder length hair. The youngsters couldn't understand!

But the clean-shaven young men raced about on bicycles, scaring teams of horses. Strong drink was evident among the young men. Today's drug culture had its counterpart in the U.S. 100 years ago, only then it was more widespread. Florida, New Mexico, Texas, Vermont, and New Hampshire all grew poppies for a thriving opium production, though a sizeable amount was imported. The Smithsonian magazine reported America's drug addiction was enormous but awakened no public outcry and but little medical interest.

Despite the perilous times Philadelphia and the state of Pennsylvania put up $1.5 million toward the cost of an independence centennial exposition and asked Congress to match that sum. There was low argument in Congress and

GOVERNOR BRISCOE ASKS FOR HELP

State plans for 4,000 jobs

Governor Dolph Briscoe today revealed plans for an in-depth job creation campaign to offset the recession and curb a climbing unemployment rate across Texas.

The Governor announced plans for his new "TEXAS FIRST" program, and set forth a goal to create 4,000 new jobs during the next 12 months.

"I'm sure you all remember when I took office I made a pledge to make Texas first in agriculture," Governor Briscoe said. "We are gaining ground on that goal."

"Now, I am asking my fellow Texans to join me in the second phase of my pledge. I want to make Texas first in business and industrial development, and more importantly during these troubled times, in job creation."

HE SAID THE GOAL of the program is to identify and generate more than 4,000 new, permanent and unsubsidized jobs in Texas.

"We estimate the program will cause the expansion of approximately 160 companies in the next 12 months," he said. "That would mean a total economic impact of $277 million annually."

He said the program will ask businesses to pledge to hire more workers. "Once a company makes this pledge, the State will train Texans to meet the skills required for the new jobs."

The Governor named Reagan Brown of his staff to chair the Governor's Job Creation Task Force, which will oversee the effort. He also named the Texas Industrial Commission as the primary agency contact, and appointed TIC Executive Director Jim Harwell to the Task Force. Other members are Jim Rose, Director of the Governor's Division of Planning Coordination; Ben F. McDonald, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Community Affairs; Dr. M. L. Brockette, Commissioner of Education; and Joe Gunn, Texas Employment Commissioner.

He said the training of the workers would be carried out through the already successful Texas Start-up Training Program, working through the Industrial Commission, the Texas Education Agency and local training institutions. He noted the program is already generating four dollars for every one invested.

ADDITIONAL TRAINING will be accomplished by use of Comprehensive Employment Training Act (C.E.T.A.) funds through local manpower development sponsors. The Texas Department of Community Affairs through its rural community development services, will work to bring jobs to rural areas.

"As companies hire the workers, we will recognize their contribution to helping Texas growth, and helping Texas combat a recession that is crippling other parts of the nation," he said.

"The program will help our rural areas. It will help every Texan who works to make it the success I know it can be."

The Governor said the symbol of the new job creation program is an outstretched hand in the colors of the Texas State Flag with the words "TEXAS FIRST" preceding the emblem.

He said a total marketing program is planned to reach all Texans.

"We want to make TEXAS FIRST the program that took the slack out of the economic rope," he said. "We want to find jobs for Texans. We want to train Texans for better jobs. We want to make Texas first."

'He's going to be a front runner when he gets his normal growth'

Heritage Committee hears Bicentennial plans

The Heritage Committee of the Georgetown Bicentennial Commission met Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Clara Scarbrough, co-chairperson, and heard subcommittee head Mrs. Mildred Pierce announce that store window displays prepared by Georgetown students will be ready for exhibit by the end of this month.

Students in all grades in Georgetown schools are participating in the preparation of displays which will appear in about 30 local stores. Dates have been set for two exhibits this year, from May 30 through July 4, and from Veteran's Day (November 11) through November 27.

Three displays have been planned for 1976.

A report was made on the status of the Bicentennial log cabin by Mrs. Scarbrough, who stated that volunteers will be needed during the summer for chinking the walls and doing some carpentry work.

Mrs. Raye McCoy's Ethnic History subcommittee, which is in process of interviewing and taking oral histories from ethnic groups and older persons with interesting experiences to tell about, needs assistance, the Heritage Committee was told. At the present only three persons are participating in the interviewing and recording process.

Mike Riddle, Heritage Committee co-chairperson, reported that plans for a local museum are still under discussion, with a cooperative venture with Southwestern University being a possibility.

The Bicentennial Commission's proposed Historical Zoning Ordinance, upon which action was postponed in March because some property owners felt they had not had sufficient notification of Zoning Commission hearings, is still viable, according to Riddle. Letters are now being sent to property owners within the proposed historical district so that another hearing can be scheduled.

The Heritage Committee is planning a map of Williamson County to indicate sites which would be of interest to tourists; and it is hoped that this can be accomplished during the coming year, according to Mrs. Scarbrough.

Mrs. William S. Lott has been working on ideas for ways to acquaint the public with interesting buildings in the Georgetown area. She suggested advertising or a brochure available in local stores might be appropriate.

Mrs. Thatcher Atkin reported that she has a list of homes and churches which have agreed to participate in tours of the area during 1976.

Mother nature has many faces. In spite of all her gentleness there is a destructive side as well. Consider, for example, the tornado, one of the deadliest phenomena in nature.

Many of these violent storms occur during the springtime, when the earth is waking from its winter slumber. The destructive, whirling wind may strike almost without warning and seemingly at random, sweeping everything out of its way with a whiplash tail that moves in a narrow path across the land.

At one time, about all that people could do to guard against being killed or injured by a tornado was to be on the alert for tornado weather and to move underground — into a storm cellar — when conditions much opposition. Rep. William Phillips of Kansas put it across when he declared that "a nation that had spent four million a day in war can afford a million and a half once every 100 years to render civil wars impossible."

—O—

So, things are better. Bad things, if not written as did the Smithsonian magazine, are forgotten. One hundred years from now, the SUN predicts, living conditions, which should include a fair and square deal for everyone regardless of religion, race, or sex, are going to be improved greatly from what they are today. Pollution will be handled, crime will be scarce, energy and other needs of life will be abundant and inexpensive.

So, who's not thankful and optimistic on this eve of our 200th? Deep down, very few.

AUSTIN — School finance reform faces one of its most critical tests as this report goes to press. A subcommittee of the House Public Education Committee has reported a bill, but I and several other committee members are proposing to replace it with a full scale school finance measure.

The subcommittee proposal fails to provide the total education reform which Texas must have. It relies heavily on increased local property taxes for financing and would also use the weighted pupil system beginning in 1977.

This limited bill was designed to stay within the $500 million in new state money available for school finance. The fact is, though, that the courts will order education reform unless this legislature passes a program much broader than the subcommittee bill.

My alternative bill provides the new programs needed to equalize education in Texas and offer teachers a decent pay raise. By phasing in many of the programs gradually over a four year period, my bill also stays within the limits of the present budget.

My bill furnishes schools with 80 percent state funding, a vast improvement over the present 50-50 split between state and local financing. For at least two years, this bill guarantees that no school district will be forced to increase local property taxes.

The measure I am proposing relies on our current method of distributing funds rather than switching to the new and untested weighted-pupil approach. It will ensure that Texas schools begin to rise rapidly from their current rank of 38th among the 50 states.

We need total school finance reform, not a patchwork bill. I hope the Public Education Committee and eventually the entire legislature agrees with me.

UTILITY BILLS COME TO THE FLOOR: Both the House and Senate are set to act on the other hot issue in this legislature — utility regulation. A bill now before the full Senate creates a three-member utility commission to regulate terms used are "Tornado Watch," indicating the possibility of a tornado; "Tornado Warning," meaning that a tornado has been reported in the general area; and "Tornado Alert," meaning to act fast, that a tornado is known to be in the area.

What can you do in the face of a tornado alert? If it's daylight, or if you can see the funnel advancing toward you, you may have time to move out of its path. If you have a storm cellar, you should move into it.

If you can't get out of the way and you don't have a storm cellar, you can still protect yourself.

In homes, open some windows and then keep away from them. Get to the center of the house, or to a basement if there is one.

In schools, move to prearranged shelter areas. Post a lookout if it can be done safely.

In shopping areas, go to designated shelter areas. In mobile homes, evacuate the area. If no shelter is nearby, leave the trailer park for low protected ground.

In open country, move away from the twister's path. If there isn't enough time, lie flat in the nearest depression with hands shielding your head. If heavy rains accompany the twister, be alert for flash flooding.

telephone and electricity service, leaving natural gas regulation to the Railroad Commission. Consumer groups are critical of this bill because it sets rates on the basis of what it will take to replace utility equipment rather than what it actually costs.

The bill expected to come before the House soon is a much stronger measure from the consumer's standpoint. Natural gas would also be regulated by the commission under this bill, and rates would be set largely on the basis of original equipment cost rather than replacement value. I think the House version is a much better bill.

Both utility regulation and school finance will probably produce several days of energetic debate. With only a month left in this legislature, both issues will be coming to a head in the very near future.

PROPERTY TAX REFORM: The House has also given its stamp of approval to two bills reforming our system of property tax evaluation across the state, though one of the bills costs $8 million which is needed elsewhere in the budget.

The expensive measure which I opposed will create a state board to see just how much property is worth in each county and school district. It is true that one of the great problems in our present property tax system is the lack of a uniform evaluation, but this bill will be another multi-million study and I cannot in good conscience support this.

The second bill, and the better one in my opinion, sets up local tax evaluation offices in every county of the state with local control. When these offices start operating, we won't need any more $8 million studies done by the state.

CAMPAIGN, HMO BILLS: House approval has also been given to the Health Maintenance Organization bill already passed by the Senate. This measure will allow prepaid medical care, and it promises to hopefully reduce high doctor bills for many Texans. I supported this bill.

Two other bills dealing with political campaigning also passed the House this past week. One requires voters to indicate their party membership in order to vote in political primaries, and the other significantly improves our campaign expenditure reporting law. The Texas campaign spending law is generally regarded as one of the nation's best, and the technical changes made by the House should improve its operation.

My offices are open Monday through Friday, and I do hope my constituents will get in touch if I do hope my constituents will get in touch if I may be of service. In Austin, my address is Box 2910, zip 78767, and my room number is G-66D. In Rockdale, my address is 237 Ackerman, zip 76567. A democratic society is recognized by the majority of the free countries, and many people in the countries that aren't free, as the very best that has ever been devised. Some people, unfortunately, insist on defying convention, and conduct themselves contrary to what is accepted by the majority of the people.

Logic tells us that a society without rules, without standards, without laws would quickly deteriorate, and that only anarchy would remain. None of us would like this, and none of us would be as well off as we would be by obeying the rules instead of defying convention.

The Panther Booster Club had a scheduled meeting at the Liberty Hill School on Saturday morning, May 10 at 10 o'clock; for those of you who get your Sunday Sun on Friday afternoon or Saturday morning, please accept this reminder. The Walburg Home Demonstration Club, which was organized recently, was given a warm welcome.

Final plans were made for Achievement Day, which is June 2.

Duties were assigned to each Club. Jonah, Table arrangements; West End, Beverages; Riverside, Decorations; Jarrell, Invocation; and Bartlett, registration.

The three new clubs were not assigned duties. All members are to bring a covered dish and eating utensils.

Wolf performs

John Wolf of San Antonio, junior in the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University, will perform works of Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Scriabin and Prokofiev for the Brownwood Music Study Club at Howard-Payne College on Wednesday, May 14, at 2:30 p.m.

RITA ROMANS has been chosen by the members of the Georgetown Noon Lions Club as nominee in the Queen's Pageant at the annual District 2-S 3 Lions Convention. The convention will be held in Austin at the Villa Capri Motor Hotel on May 16, 17, and 18 and the Queen's Pageant will be on Saturday night with 30 contestants vying to become District 2-S 3 Queen. The selection of the new queen will be announced on Sunday at the luncheon for the governor-elect.

Rita is the daughter of Lion and Lioness Merritt Romans and she is a sophomore at Georgetown High School. She is a member of the Georgetown Eagle Band and Future Homemakers of America — her hobbies include reading, playing the piano and riding horses.

New H. D. Club gains 5 members

The Walburg H.D. Club met May 7 in the home of Mrs. Harry Hobratch with 18 members and guests answering roll call with their favorite cleaning hint.

This was the club's first meeting after organizing. It gained five more members, bringing the membership to 15.

Mrs. Judy Dedek and Mrs. Carolyn Bonner gave a demonstration on Care and Cleaning of Clothing.

Mrs. Margaret Lehman was elected as reporter.

Plans were made for achievement day June 2.

The next meeting will be June 4 in the home of Mrs. Doris Ischy. Mrs. Dedek and Mrs. Bonner will give a demonstration on Food Preservation (preserving and canning of food).

Members will answer roll call with her favorite canning recipe.

ALL THAT'S LEFT — from the storm is to clean up, which city employees began Thursday morning.

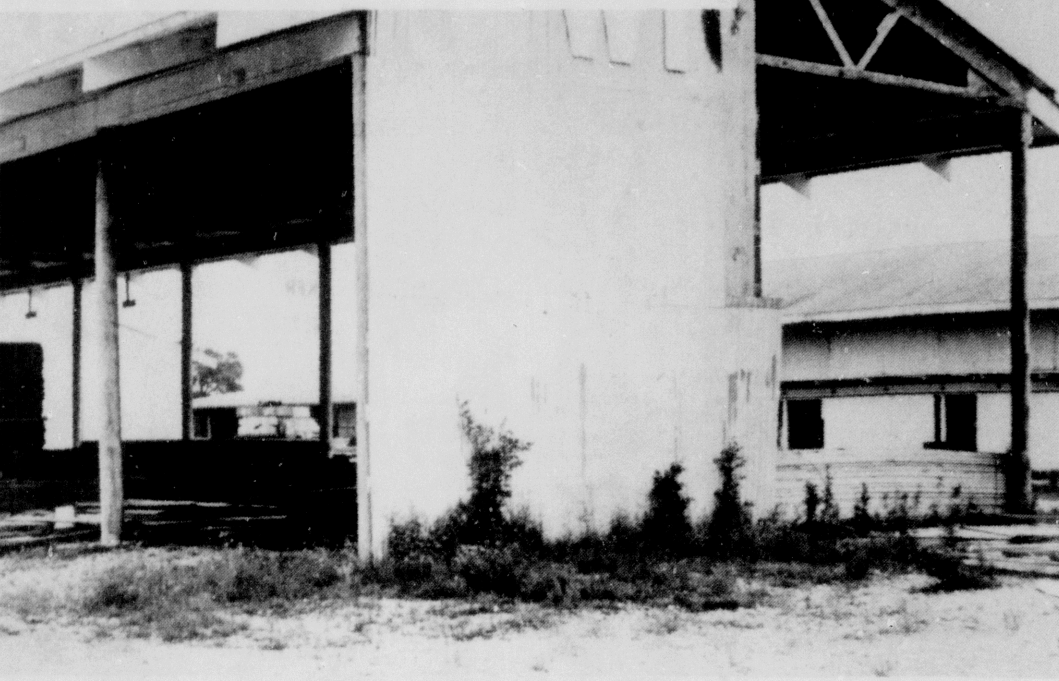

AREA GARDENS — were beaten and blown down. Victor Dedear had his best peach tree uprooted, and many young plants broken.

"WE WERE SURE SCARED" — said one of the residents of LK Dorm at Southwestern University. The fire department was called out when students mistook steam from the heating system for smoke. At the same time, a large tree fell, narrowly missing the front of the building.

HIGH WINDS — Wickes Lumber Company marked the storm with scattered lumber and materials. The end of one of their open buildings was blown off.

LIFTED 200 FEET AND SMASHED DOWN — This completely furnished, but uninhabited trailer home, owned by Mr. and Mrs. Steve Spangler on the E. S. Johnson place in Leander, was totally destroyed by a reported tornado.

Goodyear sets weekend tent sale

A good old-fashioned tent sale will take place at the Goodyear Store in Southwestern Plaza on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 15, 16 and 17.

"Special low, low prices will be in effect during these three days," said John Edgar, Goodyear manager. "We'll have free balloons for the kids, yardsticks for mom and dad, and you can get a hot dog and Coca Cola for one thin dime!"

See Thursday's SUN for more details, he said.

Use standard Mason jars, with appropriate lids and screw bands for home canning. Mayonnaise and other jars are not made to withstand the high temperatures of canning — and they're not safe to use.

$400 not missing, TEA tells Jarrell

The Texas Education Agency has reported to the Jarrell School Board that a TEA bureaucratic foul-up resulted in Jarrell incorrectly being accused of a $400 shortage in its audit.

"It was strictly a case of the bureaucracy's two different audits confusing each other," Supt. A. L. Lytle said.

Lytle showed Jarrell trustees a letter from W. P. Metke of the reports and financial control division of program funds management section of TEA.

Metke's letter said solution of the foulup found $758 from the 1972 audit.

Southwestern film series being shown

The second of a six-part film series, "Pioneers of Modern Painting," will be shown at Southwestern University and at the Georgetown City Library this week.

The film on the life and works of French artist Paul Cezanne will be shown Tuesday in the courtyard of Herman Brown - Moody Shearn Hall at Southwestern at 9 p.m. and it will be shown again Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in the City Library.

The series, on loan from the National Gallery of Art, covers the life and work of six leading artists of the late 19th and early 20th centuries, including Manet, Cezanne, Claude Monet, Georges Seurat, Henri Rousseau, and Edvard Munch.

A 45-minute color film has been devoted to each of the six artists whom Lord Kenneth Clark considers to be "the pioneers of what we still call modern painting."

Smiths double reward for son's murderer

A reward of $2,000 has now been posted for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer of Tommy A. Smith, 23, of Jarrell.

Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith, posted a second $1,000 reward Tuesday to bring the total to $2,000. The additional $1,000 is to be offered during May only. If there is no arrest by the end of the month, the reward will be reduced to the original $1,000 posted by the parents March 12, 1974.

Smith's body was found beside IH 35 about seven miles south of Belton on the morning of March 9, 1974.

An autopsy showed the Texas A&M student had been stabbed or cut with a knife 19 times.

Two items the young man was known to have been carrying just before officers lost trace of his movements — a duffle bag and an expensive pair of cowboy boots — have not been found.

He is believed to have been carrying about $200 in cash when he left College Station to visit his parents. When the body was found, there was less than $25 in his pockets.

Smith hitchhiked from College Station to Bell County. He was partially blind and not able to drive a car.

Officers have traced his movements to the VA Center in Temple where he visited his father and then to a cafe south of Belton about 11 p.m. the night of March 8.

So far officers have been unable to trace the youth's movements from the cafe to where his body was found.

Officers have been working on the theory that Smith was picked up by someone who might have known he was carrying a large sum of money.

Former Deputy Sheriff Tommy Honeycutt headed the investigation until his resignation last week.

Honeycutt said he has talked with "about 100 people" in investigating the slaying. He would not say if there is a prime suspect.

"We hope the additional award will bring some results," Sheriff Lester Gunn said. "We promise to keep the identity of the informant secret if he will just come forward with evidence to lead to the arrest and conviction of the slayer."

The $2,000 in reward money has been placed in a special trust fund with District Clerk Mrs. Daffy Carpenter.

Smith's death was the first of six unsolved murders in Bell County still under investigation.

Suicide ruled

Justice of the Peace Bill Hill ruled suicide Wednesday in the shooting death of Allene Anderson, 63, of 101 W. 2nd St.

Georgetown Police Officer Robert Hernandez investigated and found no signs of foul play.

Mrs. Atha dies here services in Kansas

Alma Lou Atha, 91, of 1604 Main St., in Georgetown, passed away May 5, in San Antonio, with the funeral service to be conducted from the Broadway Funeral Home in Wichita, Kansas. Interment was in that city.

Mrs. Atha is survived by a son, Cleo Atha of Georgetown and daughter, Mrs. T. J. Faulkner of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Local students on UT honor roll

Irwin Gold and Kenneth Kolinek of Georgetown are among more than 900 business students at The University of Texas named to the fall semester honor roll.

To qualify for the College of Business Administration honor roll, a student must have earned at least six hours of A above a B average, while enrolled in 12 or more hours of graded work, passing all courses.

Top pianists schedule clinic at Southwestern

The piano clinic scheduled for July 6-12 in the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University presents an unusual opportunity for high school pupils, college students and teachers of piano to work with two outstanding pianists and teachers, Drusilla Huffmaster and Jane Curtis Lansford, both members of the music faculty at the university.

The participants will have private piano lessons, play prepared works for criticism in master classes, study theory, harmony, and various aspects of piano technique, sight reading, with opportunity for solo and ensemble performances during the clinic.

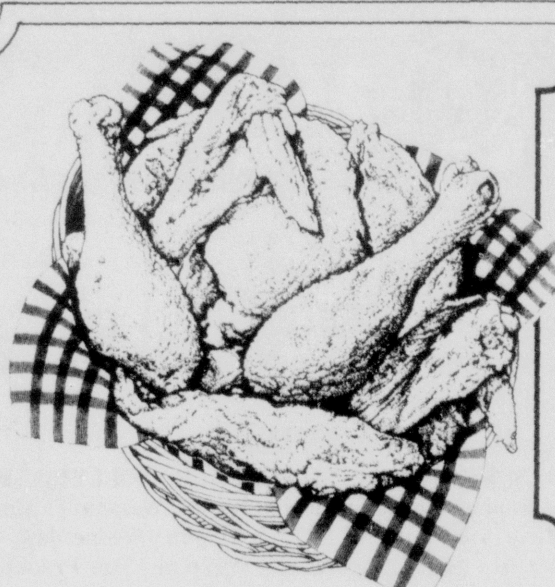

For information concerning cost and credit, contact Dr. Nelson F. Adams, dean of the School of Fine Arts at Southwestern University.

Drusilla Huffmaster, Artist-in-Residence and associate professor of piano, divides her time between performing and teaching, achieving an enviable reputation in both fields. She joined the music faculty at Southwestern University in 1961.

Jane Curtis Lansford, assistant professor of piano, joined the music faculty in 1971. She was formerly a member of the piano faculty at John Brown University in Arkansas and the University of Arkansas. A recipient of the Bachelor of Fine Arts degree (magna cum laude) from Southwestern University and the Master of Music degree with a concentration in piano from the University of Arkansas, Mrs. Lansford has also studied at the American School, Fontainebleau, France.

Numerous honors and awards have been bestowed upon both pianists for their outstanding achievements and contributions in the field of music.

MOTHER

It is so important that a child feel secure and loved the first weeks and months of its life. Our foremost authorities say that if a child's spiritual and emotional welfare is neglected in the early weeks of life, there is a great chance of permanent damage to its personality growth.

Therefore, on this day, we honor not only the beloved mothers of our adults and youth, but the very young mother who has both the tremendous responsibility and the precious opportunity to mold the life and character of the very young child. May she seek early God's help, who in the person of the Son, said, "Suffer the little children to come unto me."

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long endure and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, seen from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Girl Scouts have campouts

Several Georgetown Girl Scout troops have represented Georgetown at special District outdoor events this Spring.

The two fourth grade junior troops camped in Bastrop State Park on April 25-27 at the District Junior Campout. Eleven members of Troop 11 and seven members of Troop 5 shared the program of activities with a troop from Taylor. Georgetown Cadette Troop 525 attended as troop camp aides to Troop 5. This was the first two night campout for the Junior troops.

In addition to the usual campfire cooking and tent living, the activities included hiking, swimming, nature craft, and historic tours of Bastrop. Free play on the park playground was quite popular with the scouts.

Saturday night the three troops gathered for supper, a surprise masquerade, and campfire and singing. The "covered dutch oven" supper turned out to be chili, spaghetti, sloppy joes, chips, finger salad, and Kool Aid.

A Junior troop from Bryan joined the campfire and singing. It was reported that there were about 5 different groups of Girl Scouts camping in the park that weekend.

Georgetown leaders and parents who assisted with the campout included Carl and Cynthia Clausen, Marie and Manley Christopher, Kenneth and Joann Noren, and Elizabeth Venable.

Four Georgetown Brownie troops attended the Brownie Friendship Buzz Out, May 3, in the Taylor City Park.

The 167 Brownies from District IV were very busy learning new songs, square dancing, making tortillas and Indian toys, tacking a quilt, and learning an Eco-craft. The heritage theme activities of the event qualified participants for the Girl Scout Bicentennial Patch.

The Junior Campout and the Brownie Buzz Out were planned and directed by Mrs. Joanne Rosser, District IV Chairman.

Gary Riske to represent TLC at Council

SEGUIN — The 1975-76 Division Representatives and Alternates to the All-College Council (ACC) were selected by popular vote this past week at Texas Lutheran College. Gary Riske of Georgetown was selected for Applied Sciences.

The ACC, the major governing body of the College, is composed of elected members of the faculty, administration, and student body, as well as several appointed members.

The ACC functions to provide a community spirit between administration, faculty and the student body as they evaluate the goals, philosophy, and objectives of the College and the enhance the total learning experience of students and other members of the TLC community.

Red Cross volunteer recognized for service

Mrs. Charlise Millegan, Georgetown, was recognized this week by the Capital Area Division of the American Red Cross, Austin, for her outstanding volunteer service as emergency Red Cross worker for this area for families of military personnel. A certificate of appreciation was presented to Mrs. Millegan by Mrs. Gladys Longoria, Director, Service to Military Families, Capital Area Division.

In her eight years as Red Cross volunteer alternate worker with local Red Cross representative Mrs. Sue Marshall, she has been on 24 hour emergency call for our community for any emergencies with military and veteran's families.

The services have included emergency communications in time of sickness or death or other family crisis, health and welfare reports, financial assistance, information and referral services and help with personal and family problems that arise when a man enters military service, and the separation from his family creates problems at home.

IN APPRECIATION — of her volunteer services, Charlise Millegan, center, was presented a certificate and a pin from her Red Cross co-workers, Sue Marshall of Georgetown, and area worker Gladys Longoria.

Mrs. Marshall joined the division headquarters in adding her appreciation to Mrs. Millegan for her help and support these past years.

Leander girl is distinguished at Texas A & M

COLLEGE STATION — Taffi Sue Tippit of the Georgetown area has been named a Distinguished Student in veterinary medicine at Texas A&M University, announced Dean George C. Shelton.

The honor is awarded to students who have excelled academically in the College of Veterinary Medicine professional program leading to a doctor of veterinary medicine degree. Dean Shelton noted a 3.25 grade point ratio or better out of a possible 4.0 is required during the spring semester.

Taffi Sue Tippit is a first year veterinary medicine student. She is the daughter of Dottie Powell of Leander.

Harris ranks highest at Tech

Miss Martha Harris is graduating this week with highest honors from Texas Tech University in Lubbock.
She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. Harris of Fort Worth and the granddaughter of Mrs. Sam Harris of Georgetown.
Martha was named to membership in Phi Kappa Phi, the highest honor a Texas Tech student can receive. She is also a member of several other honor societies and was named best actress for this year at Texas Tech.

police the billfold contained $35 cash and four rings worth a total of $150.

At quarterly staff meeting County clerk reiterates need for office space

County Clerk Dick Cervenka recommended Tuesday that the county hire a consultant to help evaluate how much space is needed by all the offices in the Williamson County system.
Cervenka spoke at the quarterly staff meeting of elected county officials. Eleven officials attended the meeting including the four commissioners, auditor, tax assessor-collector, treasurer, sheriff, district attorney, and county judge.
"My main concern is space," Cervenka said. He said that the present office space allotted for county records will be sufficient for about nine months.
"We need to look ahead," he reiterated.
An outsider (such as a consultant), suggested Cervenka, could look over the needs of all the offices and make recommendations for the best way to solve the problems.
Questioning Cervenka, Commissioner Wesley Foust asked,
"Why can't you utilize all the space you have? Why can't you put shelves in front of windows?
Is there any law against that?"
"New office buildings and schools do not have windows in them," Foust continued.
Commissioner R. A. Rozacky said, "The ASCS (Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation) office is planning to move. We anticipate more space to be available." ASCS offices are located in the basement of the courthouse.
Sheriff August Bosshard said that his personnel could move their offices to the basement space if that would help work out the problem for the clerk's office.
Also concerned with space,
District Attorney William (Bill) Connor reiterated a previous request for adjoining office space for himself and his secretary. Connor's office is in the southwest wing of the second floor, while his secretary is located on the north wing of the second floor in the courthouse.
County Commissioners have advertised for bids to sell a 120 by 130-foot building across from the courthouse.
The Old Farmers State Bank Building was purchased by the county in January, 1967, when Citizens State Bank moved to a new building.

Travel Counselors stopping in G'town

The people who suggest travel routes and activities for tourists visiting Texas will learn more about attractions in the Georgetown region next week.

Travel counselors from the Texas Highway Department's highway tourist bureaus and key AAA offices will visit Georgetown Monday, May 12, as part of a familiarization tour sponsored by the Discover Texas Association.

The counselors will be on the road for five days, getting a first-hand look at popular tourist stops in the Dallas/Fort Worth, Waco, Austin, San Marcos and Hill Country regions.
While in the area they will visit the Inner Space Caverns.

DTA Chairman Gene Phillips said, "Our association, which represents the state's tourist industry, is sponsoring the tour so the counselors can speak from personal experience as they make suggestions to out-of-state visitors concerning things to do and see while they're in Texas." He continued, "Most of the counselors on the tour are Highway Department employees, and we view this trip as an excellent example of cooperation between the private and governmental sectors of the state's tourist industry."

The 700-mile familiarization tour is being financed by DTA and various host organizations along the route.

The counselors will be traveling aboard a luxury bus provided by Texas McDonald Systems, Inc. of Dallas.

All stops along the route have been researched in advance of the trip by the Highway Department counselors to insure that the group gets a closeup look at those points of interest most likely to appeal to tourists.

OVER HALF of the men arrived with their wives Friday afternoon and quite a few stayed up all that night, just re-running some of the games they won and lost.

Expenditures for food and drink went over $400 for the occasion with another $100 for rent and secretarial help during the year.

Bob Gaines, who served all of the men during their stay at Mood Hall, is always the recipient of a generous gift from those who remember him with strong affection. Gaines, now 87, was employed as janitor when Mood Hall opened in 1908 and there aren't many who lived there the next 45 years that he can't immediately recognize and recall special antics engaged in by that personality.

Georgetown's running high voltage

If your lights dimmed a few seconds at 4:55 p.m. Thursday, it was the result of a switchover in Georgetown's electricity capabilities from low voltage to high voltage.

City Electric Supt. Tony Shenk completed a project six years in the making when he flipped a switch which doubled the electric load capability which Georgetown can now carry.

"It will make our electrical service much more stable by allowing us to maintain continuity better," he said.

Shenk explained that the low voltage power lines created occasional fluctuations which most residents noticed during peak load periods when their lights dimmed as they turned on another electric appliance. The momentary dimming should not occur now.

The outer edges of Georgetown were already on a high voltage connection, he said, but the inner portion of the city was not converted until Thursday. The inner portion of the city has three times the load capabilities that it had last week.

JARRELL HIGH SCHOOL, built in 1916 is still structurally sound, however, Texas Education Agency warned the Jarrell Independent School District of serious violations of accreditation standards for grades kindergarten through twelve. TEA accreditation team in 1974 noted insufficient library space and science laboratories, among other "inadequacies".

County Commissioners to meet

Williamson County Commissioners Monday will consider the planned use report for federal Revenue Sharing funds for entitlement Period No. 6.

Commissioners Court begins at 10 a.m. in the auditor's office, first floor of the courthouse.

Revenue Sharing funds for period 6 will not be received until September, but the report must be filed with the federal government before funds are approved.

Sheriff August Bosshard will request four additional radio systems. He explained that his department does not have an immediate need for the units, but that he was planning ahead to when they would be needed and buying them for a much lower price while the units are available through Capital Area Planning Council.

In other business, the court will consider:

- Appointing a representative to the Community Action Board to replace Rosamond McClain, who resigned.
- Manpower consortium agreement.
- Adoption of an emblem for ambulance service attendants.

—A service emblem for county employees.

—Bids on base station for Williamson County Ambulance Service.

—Petition to establish voting precinct for Weir.

County Roads get signs

Signs for numbering county roads arrived this week and Williamson County Commissioners began installing them.

Previously, county roads had not been named or numbered sometimes causing confusion. Members from the Hutto Lions Club appeared before Commissioners Court earlier this year and made a special request that numbering of county roads be given priority. The Hutto citizens reported an incident of the ambulance from Taylor making an emergency run into the Hutto area in the early morning hours. Since roads were not numbered, difficulty arose in finding the residence of the heart attack victim.

Roads are numbered in sequence by Commissioner's Precinct with Precinct No. 1 having 100 series, Precinct No. 2 — 200, Precinct No. 3 — 300 and Precinct No. 4 — 400.

Accreditation?

If a school district loses its accreditation, it may continue to operate its schools, but without the aid of Texas Education Agency funds for the superintendent's salary, vocational programs and special education programs. Also the district would lose all federal funds.

Most colleges and universities expect new students to have graduated from an accredited high school. Students with a non-accredited diploma, who wish to enter college, are usually required to take special exams before entrance is permitted.

old Army barracks from Fort Hood and move them to the campus.

Lytle told the board there is a good chance the barracks won't please TEA, but he was instructed to take initial steps toward acquiring the buildings. He estimated the cost of moving, renovating and repairing two buildings at about $25,000.

But Lytle is still concerned about TEA's upcoming visit May 15.

"They're not going to be satisfied if we just offer to bring in a couple of barracks. We've got to convince them there's a new building on the horizon," he said.

When TEA comes calling, Lytle will show them existing improvements, and then point to the surrounding farm land which suffered a beating by hail and wind last week.

"This is rather a discouraging time for the community," he said, noting that cattle prices are low and that last year's cotton crop flopped in a dead market. "That hail just about wiped out all the grain in the eastern half of the district."

"This is not a time when people are going to be excited about voting to raise their taxes," he added. "We'd like them to give us a year's delay so we can recoup our losses a bit."

But just in case TEA isn't sympathetic to the recent current economic conditions, Lytle said he intends to call a meeting of JISD's taxpayers in early June.

"We're going to explain exactly how serious the situation may be," he said. "If we need to call another bond election soon, I don't want to do it unless we know that the people in the area are willing to support it. Otherwise, we're just wasting money on the expense of having an election."

Lytle said he thinks there may be sufficient sentiment in the community to attempt to construct a new high school at a lower cost than the $650,000 bond proposal of last March, perhaps in the range of $350,000 to $390,000. "That should be easier for folks to take."

Regardless, JISD is virtually certain to appear at a July 14 meeting of the State Commission of School Accreditation to explain why it should be taken off the warning status, or — more seriously — why the district should not lose its accreditation.

"I'm hoping they (TEA) will understand about the first bond election since bond elections are failing all over the state this year. This is not an opportune time to ask anyone for more money," Lytle said.

If the accreditation commission denies JISD's appeal, trustees will have a final opportunity for relief by appearing before a State Board of Education hearing on Sept. 13.

By then, the taxes will either be on the way up, or time may be out.

Florence City Council renews phone contract

Florence City Council renewed a contract with Mid-States Telephone Co. for service to the area at their Tuesday night meeting.

No rate changes were requested at this time.

Discussion concerning the extension of city limits was tabled until the legal side of the question could be considered.

The fire department announced it will purchase smocks to be worn by ambulance attendants.

City officials will send a letter to the state Community Affairs office to find out what sources are available for improvements to smaller communities.

A board of directors was appointed to oversee the public library.

No action was taken on the suggestion of hiring a full-time lawyer to represent the city. The lawyer would be paid $75 per month on a retainer basis.

Aldermen elected in April were given oath of office. The three new council members who are former aldermen from past years are H. F. Miller, Sr., W. D. Walker, and Floyd Haydon.

Other members are Mayor Robert Chambers and David Merideth.

Dear Don,
I just wanted to let you know that the Sunday (a week ago) edition of the Williamson County Sun was even better in my opinion than most of the fine papers you are publishing. I especially liked the handling of the controversial story concerning Georgetown's new police chief. Your reporter (Jim Lewis) went to considerable effort to get a number of sources in a balanced fair presentation of the facts. I was also impressed with a story on an inside page of the young man from high school who spent a weekend in jail to see what it was like. This makes interesting informative reading and I for one certainly appreciate it.

Gratefully yours,
Tom Buckner

city council in determining the need for a rate increase.

Also, 30 days before filing an application for a rate increase, the utility must file a notice stating its intention. The council must take action on the application within 90 days, or the rate increase is automatically denied.

The proposed ordinance would require the utility to reimburse the city for expenses in hiring consultants and attorneys. In the telephone rate case, the city paid $5,040.25 for consultants more familiar with rate-making than the city staff.

The council will also advertise for paving bids on the west side of the city. The paving is the final year of a 3-year project financed by $52,000 in federal revenue sharing funds.

Bids for a new police car will be advertised to replace an auto which will have been driven 100,000 miles by the time a new car is purchased.

Granger man indicted in robbery link

Bloody memories of last September's Walburg State Bank holdup were called to mind Wednesday when a federal grand jury in Austin indicted a 24-year-old Granger man for illegally obtaining a gun used in the robbery.

Donald Howard Jones of Granger was charged with making a false written statement in obtaining a gun used in the robbery, in which three persons were shot in the head.

In the Jones indictment, Jones is accused of falsely representing to a licensed gun dealer that he had never been convicted of a felony. He was charged in the murder or the bank robbery.

According to the indictment, the gun which Jones purchased was used in the holdup.
